ABOUT MICHAEL

Hey! Thanks for taking the time to learn more about who I am. I started my involvement in photography in high school when I helped put together two yearbooks. I was able to document events at school which led me to desire a photography degree. I was able to obtain my bachelor's degree in Photography in 2012 from Louisiana Tech University. My work in college forced me to tell personal stories. My ability to do this flowed in to my personal business as well. I like to tell stories that show the uniting of one life to another because it represents a Christians unity to the Savior, Jesus Christ. My style is very photojournalistic meaning I do not like set up scenarios. I walk around photographing the day as it happens. This is the same approach that I take when photographing engagement sessions and senior sessions. Though we will have posed photographs I like to take the personality that you have and show it through a photograph that will last a lifetime. I hope that I can hear and tell your story soon!
